Hestaplan for competition riders

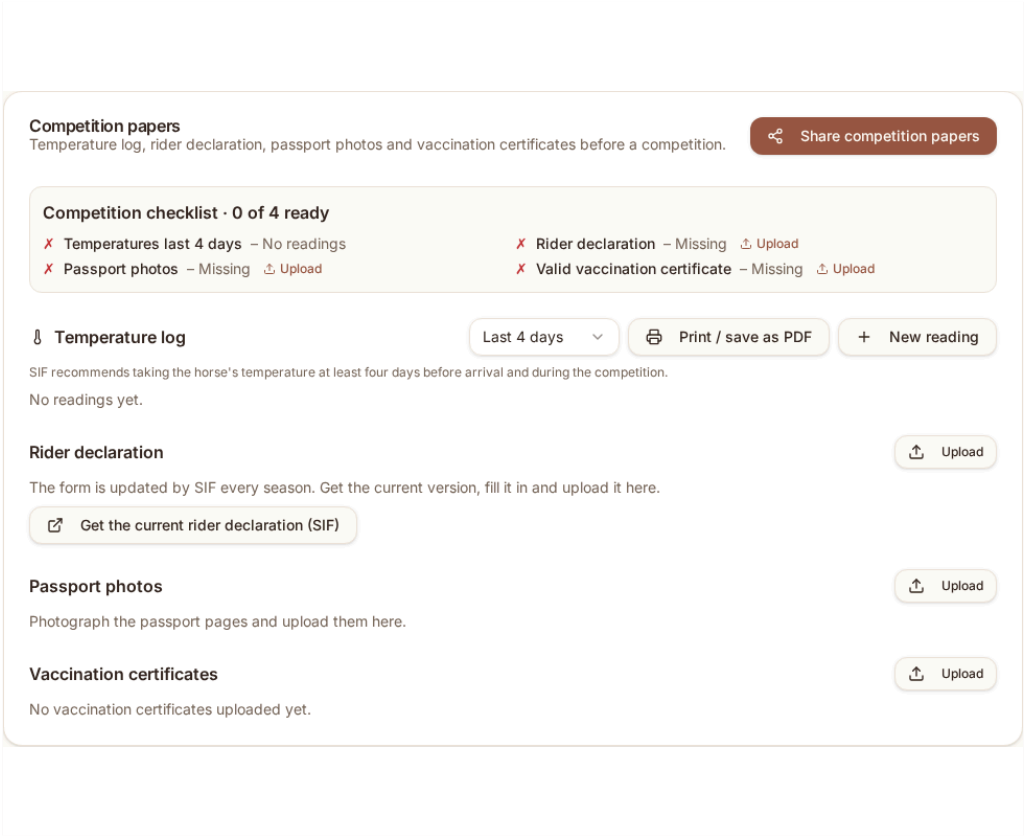

Everything the organiser needs – temperature log, rider declaration, passport photos and vaccination certificate – gathered on the horse profile and ready to share with a link.

There is a lot to keep track of before a competition. In Hestaplan the competition documents live right on the horse's profile: you log temperatures, upload the documents once and see in the checklist that everything is ready. When it is time, you create a share link for the organiser – the recipient needs no account and only sees what you have chosen.

- Temperature log with printout or PDF
- Rider declaration, passport photos and vaccination certificate uploaded in one place
- Automatic reminders before the vaccination expires
- Competition checklist showing what is ready and what is missing
- Secure share link with expiry and revocation

1. Competition documents on the horse profile

Open the horse's profile and scroll to Competition documents. The temperature log, rider declaration, passport photos and vaccination certificate are gathered here. The checklist at the top shows at a glance what is ready – and has its own upload buttons for anything missing, so you can fill everything in without searching.

2. Temperature log

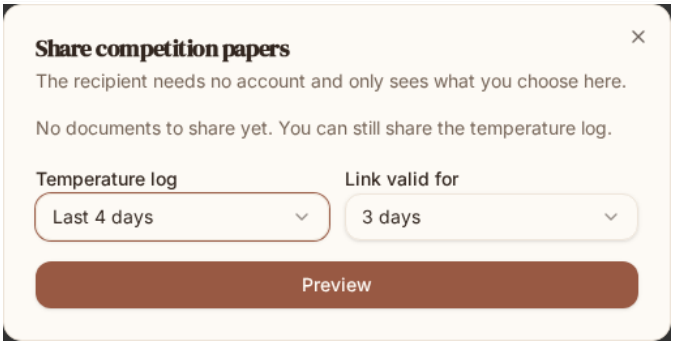

SIF recommends taking the horse's temperature at least four days before arrival and during the competition. Click New reading and enter date, time and temperature – feel free to add a short note like ”morning” or ”evening”. Choose a period in the list and click Print / save as PDF for a tidy list to show.

3. Rider declaration, passport photos and vaccination certificate

The rider declaration is updated by SIF before each season – download the current form via the link in the app, fill it in and upload it. Photograph the passport pages and upload them under Passport photos. Upload the vaccination certificate with its expiry date, and you and the co-owners automatically receive email reminders 30, 14 and 7 days before it expires.

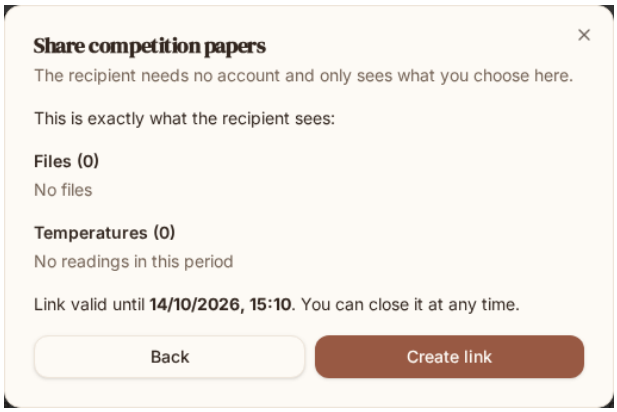

4. Share with the organiser

Click Share competition documents. Choose which temperature period to include and how long the link should be valid – 1, 3, 7 or 14 days.

Choose temperature period and validity.

Before the link is created you get a preview showing exactly which files and temperatures the recipient will see. Create the link and send it to the organiser – it opens without any login.

The preview shows exactly what the recipient will see.

5. Revoke or extend access

Under Active links you can see all the share links you have created, when they expire and what they contain. You can revoke a link at any time – it stops working immediately. Consider creating a new link before each competition, so the organiser always has fresh information.

6. Good to know

- The recipient needs no Hestaplan account and only sees what you have chosen to share.
- The link stops working automatically when the validity period has passed.
- Everything remains on the horse profile – the share link is only a view, nothing is moved.
- The checklist counts temperatures from the last four days, so keep taking readings during the competition.

Good luck at the competition!
